

All Stars Project <http://www.allstars.org/fellowship>

The Activists for Social Development Fellowship is a competitive ten-week program designed to challenge ten recent college graduates (or those graduating in the spring) to be self-starters and make a difference by providing high-level training in development, fundraising, and youth organizing at a major national nonprofit organization with an outside-the-box approach.

Alston/Bannerman Fellowship Program www.alstonbannerman.org

Sabbaticals for Minority Activists! The Alston/Bannerman Fellowship Program is committed to advancing progressive social change by helping to sustain long-time activists of color. The program honors those who have devoted their lives to helping their communities organize for racial, social, economic and environmental justice. The Alston/Bannerman Fellowship Program is now part of the Center for Social Inclusion. Each year, about 10 Fellows receive an award of $25,000 to take sabbaticals of three months or more for reflection and renewal. The sabbaticals may be used to explore new interests, travel, relax, visit with other activists, or do whatever the Fellows think is necessary to prepare for their future work.

AAUW Community Action Grants <http://www.aauw.org/what-we-do/educational-funding-and-awards/>

The AAUW provides seed money to individual women, AAUW branches and AAUW state organizations, as well as local community-based nonprofit organizations for innovative programs or nondegree research projects that promote education and equity for women and girls. Two-year Community Action Grants provide start-up funds for longer-term programs and are restricted to projects focused on K-14 (including 2-year colleges) girls' achievement in math, science, and/or technology. Funds support planning activities, coalition building, program implementation and evaluation. Applicants must be women who are U.S. citizens or permanent residents. Grant projects must have direct public impact, be nonpartisan, and take place within the United States or its territories.

Their Fellowships and Grants include the following categories:

- American Fellowships
- Career Development Grants
- Community Action Grants
- International Fellowships
- Selected Professions Fellowships
- Campus Action Projects

American Political Science Association Minority Fellows Program www.apsanet.org

The APSA Minority Fellows Program designates up to twelve stipend minority fellows each year. Additional applicants who do not receive funds from the Association may also be recognized and recommended for admission and financial support to graduate political science programs. Fellows with stipends receive a $4,000 fellowship that is disbursed in two $2,000 payments--one at the end of their first graduate year and one at the end of their second--provided that they remain in good academic standing.

Ashoka: Innovators for the Public www.ashoka.org

Ashoka's mission is to seek and invest in social entrepreneurs from around who exhibits creativity, a strong drive, and the ethical fiber to promote positive social change. Fellows are supported financially through a living stipend and professionally through Ashoka's global network of social entrepreneurs. Fellows work to serve the public in many areas including education, environment, health, human rights, civic participation and economic development. Ashoka has more than 1,400 Fellows across the world transforming the lives of millions of underserved people.

Application Deadline: Rolling

Asian Pacific American Institute for Congressional Studies

<http://www.apaics.org/index.php/pages/programs/fellowships/>

APAICS is a non-partisan, non-profit educational organization dedicated to promoting Asian American and Pacific Islander (AAPI) participation and representation at all levels of the political process, from community service to elected office. The APAICS Fellowship program offers full-time legislative and public policy fellowships in Washington, D.C. The program aims to build leadership skills, encourage political civic engagement, and foster a strong interest in public service careers.

Barbara Jordan Health Policy Scholars Program <http://bjordanscholars.kff.org/en/Apply.aspx>

The Barbara Jordan Health Policy Scholars Program is an 11-week program that brings rising college seniors and recent college graduates to Washington, D.C., where they are placed in congressional offices and learn about health policy issues, with a focus on issues affecting racial and ethnic minority and underserved communities. Through the program, Scholars gain knowledge about federal legislative procedure and health policy issues, while further developing their critical thinking and leadership skills.

Borlaug Fellows in Global Food Security Graduate Research Grant

<http://www.purdue.edu/discoverypark/food/borlaugfellows/research-fellowship/index.php>

The U.S. Borlaug Fellows in Global Food Security graduate research grant program supports exceptional graduate students who are interested in developing a component of their graduate research in a developing country setting and in collaboration with a mentor from an International Agricultural Research Center (IARC), or a qualifying* National Agricultural Research System (NARS) unit.

Boren Fellowship for Graduate Students https://borenawards.org/boren_fellowship

Boren Fellowships provide up to $30,000 to U.S. graduate students to add an important international and language component to their graduate education through specialization in area study, language study, or increased language proficiency. Boren Fellowships support study and research in areas of the world that are critical to U.S. interests, including Africa, Asia, Central & Eastern Europe, Eurasia, Latin America, and the Middle East.

Boren Scholarships for Undergraduates https://borenawards.org/boren_scholarships

Boren Scholarships provide up to $20,000 to U.S. undergraduate students to study abroad in areas of the world that are critical to U.S. interests and underrepresented in study abroad, including Africa, Asia, Central & Eastern Europe, Eurasia, Latin America, and the Middle East. The countries of Western Europe, Canada, Australia, and New Zealand are excluded.

CAMPUS DEADLINE: 20 January 2015; see <http://externalscholarships.lafayette.edu/scholarships/> for application details.

Campaign Corps <http://www.emilyslist.org/do/ccorps/about/> Campaign Corps is a competitive program that trains recent college graduates to work on targeted progressive Democratic campaigns for the three months leading up to election day. Staffers go through campaign school, which is a mixture of lectures and discussions, combined with a simulated campaign where teams compete against each other to win. Members are sent to a local, state or federal race for a progressive Democratic candidate. The weekend after Election Day, everyone reunites in Washington, DC for a retreat.

Capital City Fellows Program (Washington, DC) <http://dchr.dc.gov/page/capital-city-fellows-program>

The Capital City Fellows Program (CCFP) is an initiative of Mayor Vincent Gray to attract recent graduates of master's degree programs in public administration, public policy, urban planning, and related fields to work for the city of Washington, DC. The fellowship term is two-years and consists of four six-month rotations in different city agencies including the Office of the City Administrator, Office of Personnel, Office of Chief Financial Officer, and many more. The program prepares Fellows to meet the challenges of local government and develops management talent for the city. Fellows are considered regular District government employees and as such receive the standard benefits available to all city employees such as health insurance, life insurance, vacation days, leave accrual, etc.

Application process opening in early 2015.

Capital Fellows Program (Sacramento, CA)

www.csus.edu/calst/capital_fellows_programs_overview.html

The Capital Fellows Program is an eleven-month post-graduate internship and seminar program in Sacramento, CA. Within the Capital Fellows Program, you can apply for one or more of the following fellowships: California Senate Fellows, Assembly Fellowship Program, Judicial Administration Fellowship and the California Executive Fellows program. The work assigned to each Fellow will be similar to those of a legislative assistant and committee consultant. Fellows receive health benefits, a monthly stipend of $1,972 and are considered an employee of California State University, Sacramento.

Caravan for Democracy

<https://secure2.convio.net/jnf/site/SPageServer/?pagename=caravanfordemocracy>

CFD promotes constructive dialogue about Israel and the Middle East by bringing a cross section of Israeli politicians and diplomats, journalists, professors, and advocacy trainers to discuss the challenges Israel faces.

CARE International <http://www.care-international.org>

CARE is a major international humanitarian agency delivering broad-spectrum emergency relief and long-term international development projects. Founded in 1945, CARE is nonsectarian, impartial, and non-governmental.

Carnegie Endowment for International Peace Junior Fellowship

<http://www.carnegieendowment.org/about/index.cfm?fa=jrfellows>

The Carnegie Endowment for International Peace is an organization that works toward advancing cooperation between nations, and promotes active international engagement by the U.S. This is a yearlong fellowship that offers eight to ten research assistantships with the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. Research fellows are paired with the Endowment's senior associates.

CAMPUS DEADLINE: 18 December 2014; see <http://externalscholarships.lafayette.edu/scholarships/> for application details

Center for American Progress <http://www.americanprogress.org/about/internships/>

Fall & Spring internships

American Progress offers full and part-time internships each summer and academic semester. All undergraduate and master's-level students and JD and PhD candidates are eligible to apply. Interns will be directly engaged with the Center's policy experts and will participate in a variety of activities including research, writing, and web-based projects. They will also assist staff with administrative tasks and help organize the Center's many conferences and events. American Progress offers a monetary stipend as well as a transportation subsidy for interns.

Center for Progressive Leadership New Leaders Internship Program

www.cplnewleaders.org/programoverview.php

CPL's New Leaders Internship Program brings passionate young people from underrepresented communities to Washington DC for paid, on-the-job experience in a top progressive organization, leadership training, coaching, networking and community building.

Center for Strategic & International Studies Internship <http://csis.org/about-us/internships>

CSIS offers full and part-time internships in the fall, spring and summer for undergraduates, advanced students, and recent graduates who are interested in gaining practical experience in public policy.

- Must be at least a college junior in good standing, an advanced student or a recent graduate.
- Must have at least a 3.0 GPA (on a 4.0 scale) or equivalent from a non-U.S. institution.
- Must be eligible to work in the United States.

Center for Third World Organizing (CTWO) - Movement Activist Apprenticeship Program

www.ctwo.org

CTWO is a racial justice organization that works towards the building of a social justice movement led by people of color. This resource center promotes the advancement of racial justice; sending out messages worldwide. It works to establish model multi-racial community organizations, build an active network of organizations and activists of color, and train the new participants, including members of the Movement Activist Apprenticeship Program. Members of MAAP participate in an internship working on the movement towards economic social justice. Placed with any one of CTWO's partnering organizations, members work full-time on an organizing campaign with a community organization or labor union.

Charles G. Koch Summer Fellow Program www.charleskochinstitute.org/koch-summer-fellow-program/

The Koch Summer Fellow Program is an intensive ten-week summer internship program that offers an essential combination of free-market policy experience and professional training. Work with top policy experts, journalists, and academics while exploring market-based solutions to social and economic problems. Through your internship, an opening seminar and periodic speaker series, meet people who can be an important resource for your future career and build lasting relationships with them. Benefits: $1,500 stipend + travel expenses to and from Washington, DC, furnished housing (over $2000 value), books, seminars and career workshops. Undergraduates, recent graduates, and graduate students from all countries and studying in all majors are eligible.

City Hall Fellows <http://www.cityhallfellows.org/home.html>

This 12 month fellowship introduces college graduates to positions that allow them the opportunity to understand how cities work and the various issues that impact local government.

Code for America <http://codeforamerica.org/>

Code for America is a new non-profit, and a new kind of organization. Our team is made up of web geeks, city experts, and technology industry leaders. We are building a network of civic leaders and organizations who believe there is a better way of doing things and want to make a difference.

Conference on Asian Pacific American Leadership (CAPAL) Scholarships and Internships

<http://www.capal.org/programs/>

The Conference on Asian Pacific American Leadership (CAPAL) offers two internship programs and 3 scholarships for Asian Pacific Americans interested in working for the federal government.

Early deadline in mid-February, Final deadline in early March

Congressional Black Caucus Foundation www.cbcbfinc.org/images/stories/LIPSBrochureFinal.pdf
Congressional Fellows Program

The CBCF Congressional Fellows Program was created in 1976 in order to increase the number of African Americans working as professional staff in the U.S. Congress. The Congressional Fellows Program offers public policy training to young professionals by providing them with an opportunity to work on Capitol Hill. CBCF Fellows work in congressional member and committee offices, attend leadership development seminars, complete a community service project and produce policy papers. During the first-year office placement, Fellows gain invaluable experience as they assist in the development of legislative and public policy initiatives in CBC Member Offices. Fellows work 40 hours per week on a range of staff assignments, including legislative analysis, responding to constituent mail, drafting talking points and speeches for members, and coordinating logistics and public testimony for Congressional hearings. During the second half of the program, fellows transition to a congressional committee. The committee placement complements their experience in a member's office and provides the fellows with a full view of the legislative process. Fellows also have educational enrichment opportunities through seminars on policy and politics. These seminars explore hot-button policy issues, the politics of policymaking and policy implementation, and evaluation of policy already implemented. As a cohort, the Fellows develop and implement a community service project. Fellows are also exposed to the history and work of the Congressional Black Caucus (CBC), and prepared to analyze the impact of policies on African Americans and other minority groups.

Congressional Internship Program

Established in 1986, the CBCF Congressional Internship Program answered the call to help diversify our democracy by increasing the pool of talented public servants. This intensive nine-week summer program offers the opportunity for college students from across the nation to learn about the legislative process, leadership and careers in the policy making process. Interns work in CBC member offices, attend professional development events, and participate in leadership development projects. The program prepares young people to become informed decision makers and influential leaders who shape our world. This program is offered every summer.

Donald M. Payne Foreign Policy Fellows Program

CBCF Fellows work in congressional member and committee offices, attend leadership development seminars, complete a community service project and produce policy papers. During the first-year office placement, Fellows gain invaluable experience as they assist in the development of legislative and public policy initiatives in CBC Member Offices. Fellows work 40 hours per week on a range of staff assignments, including legislative analysis, responding to constituent mail, drafting talking points and speeches for members, and coordinating logistics and public testimony for Congressional hearings. During the second half of the program, fellows transition to a congressional committee. The committee placement complements their experience in a member's office and provides the fellows with a full view of the legislative process. Fellows also have educational enrichment opportunities through seminars on policy and politics. These seminars explore hot-button policy issues, the politics of policymaking and policy implementation, and evaluation of policy already implemented. As a cohort, the Fellows develop and implement a community service project. Fellows are also exposed to the history and work of the Congressional Black Caucus (CBC), and prepared to analyze the impact of policies on African Americans and other minority groups. The Fellow will gain extensive exposure to lawmakers and policy professionals dedicated to formulating and implementing global policy ranging from food security, equitable education access, combating preventable diseases, promoting gender equality to addressing climate change and other major global issues.

Emerging Leaders Internship Program

The Emerging Leaders Internship Program sponsored by Walmart is a semester-long paid internship for college students. Interns work four days on Capitol Hill, in federal agencies and at non-profit organizations. Past interns have served in various capacities at the Department of Justice (DOJ), the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), the Transportation Security Administration (TSA), Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and on House and Senate committees. On Friday afternoons, interns attend educational seminars that focus on domestic and international issues, participate in leadership-training sessions and visit cultural and historical sites in the Washington, D.C., area. Each cohort must complete a team community service project in the surrounding community. CBCF provides housing and a stipend. This program is offered during the fall and spring semesters.

Louis Stokes Urban Health Public Policy Fellows Program

This fellowship is named after retired Congressman Louis B. Stokes of Ohio, founder of the Congressional Black Caucus Health Braintrust. The primary goal of the program is to increase the pool of qualified, minority health policy professionals who are committed to eliminating health disparities in the United States and abroad. The Louis Stokes Urban Health Policy Fellows Program is a 20-month policy training and leadership development program that targets early to mid-level policy professionals who are committed to eliminating health disparities nationally and globally. CBCF Louis Stokes Fellows receive health policy training while working in a CBC Member's office as well on a congressional committee. Typically, they spend ten months working in a congressional member's office and the remaining ten months working on a congressional committee that focuses on health-related issues. CBCF complements the fellow's policy training on the Hill by providing opportunities to improve and develop leadership skills so they can be more effective in their professional roles. The program also includes educational enrichment opportunities through seminars on policy and politics. These seminars explore hot-button policy issues, the politics of policymaking and policy implementation, and evaluation of policy already implemented. Fellows are also exposed to the history and work of the Congressional Black Caucus, and prepared to analyze the impact of policies on African Americans and other minority groups.

Congressional Hispanic Caucus Institute - Congressional Internship Program

www.chci.org/internships/

The Congressional Internship Program provides college students with a paid work placement in a Congressional Office or Federal Agency for a period of twelve weeks (Spring/Fall) or eight weeks (Summer). This unmatched experience allows students to learn first-hand about our nation's legislative process.

Congressional Hispanic Caucus Institute - Graduate Fellowship Program

www.chci.org/fellowships/page

The nine month paid Fellowship Program offers exceptional Latinos who have earned at least a master's degree within three years of the program start date with unparalleled exposure to hands-on experience the public policy areas of secondary education, higher education, health, housing, law, and the STEM fields. Congressional Hispanic Caucus Institute - Public Policy Fellowship Program www.chci.org/fellowships/ The Congressional Hispanic Caucus Public Policy Fellowship program was created by CHCI to assist in the development of the next generation of Latino leaders in public policy. Each year, the nine-month fellowship program provides up to 21 promising Latinos from across the U.S. an opportunity to gain hands-on experience at the national level in the public policy area of their choice. Some fellows have worked on international affairs, economic development, educational or housing policies. After careful considerations and interviews, fellows are placed in organizations/agencies such as the congressional offices, federal agencies, Washington-based media, corporate federal affairs offices, national advocacy organizations, and government-related institutions. In addition to the invaluable hands-on experiences gained from these placements, fellows are also provided with the opportunity to work on a community service project, attend a weekly seminar and receive a monthly stipend.

Congressional Hunger Center - The Bill Emerson National Hunger Fellows Program

<http://www.hungercenter.org/fellowships/leland/>

The Congressional Hunger Center is a private, bi-partisan non-profit organization that fights hunger by developing leaders. The Bill Emerson National Hunger Fellows Program, a project of the CHC, is a unique leadership development opportunity for motivated individuals seeking to make a difference in the struggle to eliminate hunger and poverty. Each year 20 participants are selected for this twelve-month program. Fellows are placed for six months with urban and rural community organizations involved in fighting hunger at the local level, such as food banks, local advocacy groups, economic development agencies, and faith-based organizations. They then move to Washington, D.C. to complete the year with six months of work at advocacy and public policy organizations involved in the anti-hunger and poverty movement at the national level. Through this unique program, bridging community grassroots efforts and national public policy, Bill Emerson National Hunger Fellows develop as effective leaders in the anti-hunger movement. Applications are encouraged from candidates reflecting diverse educational, cultural, personal and experiential backgrounds. A living allowance, health insurance, travel expenses, professional development training opportunities, and an end of service award are included. DEADLINE: January 5, 2015

Congressional Hunger Center - The Mickey Leland International Hunger Fellows Program

<http://www.hungercenter.org/fellowships/leland/>

The Mickey Leland International Hunger Fellows Program is a two-year initiative that begins with a one-year field placement in countries throughout South Asia, Sub-Saharan Africa, and Latin America. The following year is spent in Washington, D.C. at national nonprofit organizations working on hunger and poverty policy. The fellowship trains emerging leaders in the fight against hunger and provides them with a broad understanding of the problem of hunger, the skills necessary to contribute to a solution, and the personal experience that puts faces and names to these issues. Application will open in Fall 2014.

Coro Fellows Program in Public Affairs www.coro.org

The Coro Fellows Program in Public Affairs is a full time, graduate-level experiential leadership training program that introduces a diverse group of young professionals to all aspects of the public affairs arena. Each year about 64 participants are selected from a national pool of applicants to serve at one of the following locations: Los Angeles, New York, St. Louis, Pittsburgh and San Francisco. For nine months, Coro Fellows spend at least 50 hours a week in a unique series of field assignments, site visits, interviews, public service projects and seminars. Fellows are encouraged to view the program as their laboratory; to experiment with and experience life in the public affairs arena.

DEADLINE: January 23, 2015

Critical Languages Scholarship www.clscholarship.org

The Critical Language Scholarship (CLS) Program is a fully-funded overseas language and cultural immersion program for American undergraduate and graduate students. With the goal of broadening the base of Americans studying and mastering critical languages and building relationships between the people of the United States and other countries, CLS provides study opportunities to a diverse range of students from across the United States at every level of language learning. The CLS Program is a program of the U.S. Department of State, Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs.

Languages Offered:

- Azerbaijani, Bangla/Bengali, Hindi, Indonesian, Korean, Punjabi, Turkish, and Urdu: Beginning, advanced beginning, intermediate and advanced levels;
- Arabic and Persian: Advanced beginning, intermediate and advanced levels;
- Chinese, Japanese, and Russian: Intermediate and advanced levels.

Cross Culture Solutions <http://www.crossculturalsolutions.org/discover-what-you-can-do/volunteer-opportunities>

Cross-Cultural Solutions, also known as CCS, is a nonprofit working to address critical global issues by providing meaningful volunteer service to communities abroad, and contributing responsibly to local economies.

Davis-Putter Scholarships Fund <http://www.davisputter.org/>

Need-based grants (up to $10,000) to undergraduate or graduate students actively working for peace and justice on campus and/or in the community. DEADLINE: March 31, 2015

Drum Major Institute Scholars Program <http://drummajorinstitute.org/dmi-scholars/>

The Drum Major Institute Scholars Program identifies progressive college students from diverse communities and trains them in the skills necessary to obtain and succeed in entry-level public policy positions. Applicants must be sophomores or juniors enrolled in an accredited American college or university; have a demonstrated commitment to progressive values; and be able to attend the two-week Summer Institute in NYC for training and experience in public policy work.

Echoing Green www.echoinggreen.org/fellowship/

Echoing Green seeks social entrepreneurs who exhibit fearlessness in defending their ideas, an unwavering belief that all individuals have the potential to contribute meaningfully to society, and a powerful passion for developing new solutions to some of society's most challenging problems. The Fellowship Program last two years and provides Fellows with financial and technical assistance (ranging from a large global network to a close peer-to-peer learning) to enhance their leadership skills and ensure organizational sustainability. Instead of working on a predefined project with an existing organization, each Fellow creates and builds his/her own organization to execute his/her own vision for social change. 2015 Application will open on December 2, 2014

ELAP Foundation for Sustainable Development <http://specialevents.cce.columbia.edu/not-profit-and-public-service-career-fair-2011/foundation-sustainable->

The Foundation for Sustainable Development (FSD) works to enhance the capacity of small non-governmental organizations (NGOs) around the world to address local health, social, environmental, and economic issues. Our model incorporates four unique program that support underserved communities in a collaborative and sustainable manner.

Émigré Memorial German Internship Program – German State Parliaments (EMGIP)

www.culturalvistas.org/emgip

EMGIP offers internship opportunities at state parliaments (“Landtage”) across Germany’s 16 state capitals. The program encourages applicants from US and Canadian students who are planning to pursue a career in public service, or who are interested in specific public policy issues such as the environment, education, migration, and healthcare. Participants gain practical work experience with state parliament, utilize their German skills at a professional level, and experience German political culture firsthand. US citizens receive a monthly stipend of EUR 670 for up to 3 months.

DEADLINES: December 1, 2014 for early Summer 2015 & March 31, 2015 for Fall 2015

Erasmus Mundus Programme http://ec.europa.eu/education/external-relation-programmes/mundus_en.htm

Funds available for graduate study (master’s and PhD) in European Union countries or partnerships with non-European high education institutions and scholarships for students and academics. Students in higher-education can receive scholarships for Undergraduate studies or Master’s studies. Doctoral candidates can receive fellowships for doctoral studies or post-doctoral studies.

Deadlines vary; applicants apply directly to programs/institutions.

Families USA: Villers Fellowship for Health Care Justice <http://familiesusa.org/about-us/careers/villers-fellowship>

Villers Fellows will be given the opportunity to work on a variety of health care justice issues during their year-long tenure. Villers Fellows works as a full-time policy analyst in Families USA's Health Policy Department. The Fellowship is based in the Families USA office in Washington, D.C. and is designed to provide the fellow with a national perspective on health care justice work.

Families USA: Wellstone Fellowship for Social Justice <http://www.familiesusa.org/about/wellstone-fellowship.html>

The Wellstone Fellowship for Social Justice is designed to foster the advancement of social justice through participation in health care advocacy work that focuses on the unique challenges facing many low-income and minority communities. Through this fellowship, Families USA hopes to expand the pool of talented social justice advocates from underrepresented economic, racial, and ethnic minority groups, including the American Indian & Alaska Native, Asian American, Black/African American, Latino, and Native Hawaiian & Pacific Islander communities.

Gilman International Scholarship <http://www.iie.org/programs/gilman-scholarship-program>

The Gilman Scholarship Program is open to U.S. citizen undergraduate students who are receiving Federal Pell Grant funding at a two-year or four-year college or university to participate in study and intern abroad programs worldwide.

CAMPUS DEADLINES vary: see Study Abroad Office for details

Global Health Corps <http://ghcorps.org/fellows/program/>

Global Health Corps recruits fellows and placement organizations that are doing excellent work in improving healthcare access and health outcomes for the poor. Placement organizations range from small grassroots organizations to large global institutions. Placement organizations identify an area of need, create a job description for a fellowship position, demonstrate the capacity to absorb two new fulltime staff, and identify a clear manager for the fellow team. Fellow candidates apply for specific positions with one of our placement organizations for which they have relevant skills and experience, and are selected jointly by GHC and the placement organization.

Green Corps Environment Fellowship <http://www.greencorps.org/>

Green Corps' Field School for Environmental Organizing is a yearlong program that trains members in leading environmental-based political campaigns. Trainees start working on campaigns from the start of their education. Trainees gain classroom and field experience in environmental and public health campaigns, and career placements in environmental groups.

Greenlining Institute <http://greenlining.org/>Leadership Academy Fellowship Program

The Greenlining Institute is a California based organization dedicated to improving the quality of life for low-income and minority communities. It runs the Greenlining Academy Fellowship Program and the Academy Summer Associate Program. The Academy Fellowship Program is an annual leadership training program for multi-ethnic individuals focused on low-income advocacy and community economic development. Generally, fellows conduct research, write report and position papers, help organize community events, and interface regularly with multi-ethnic community, corporate and government leaders. Applicants must have completed their undergraduate studies and be enrolled in, or preparing for, graduate studies in public policy, urban planning, minority advocacy or economic development.

The Academy Summer Associate Program

The Greenlining Institute is a California based organization dedicated to improving the quality of life for low-income and minority communities. It runs the Greenlining Academy Fellowship Program and the Academy Summer Associate Program. The Academy Summer Associate Program is an intensive, ten-week leadership training program for multi-ethnic graduate level students who want experience working on low-income and minority economic development issues as policy analysts, advocates and community organizers. Each Associate manages or co-manages a research or advocacy project with the direction of a Program Manager and the Academy Director.

Harry S. Truman Scholarship Foundation www.truman.gov

The Truman Scholarship provides $30,000 towards graduate study in the United States or abroad in a variety of fields. The Truman Foundation seeks college or university students with junior-level academic standing who wish to attend professional or graduate school to prepare them for positions in (government, the nonprofit and advocacy sectors, and education) in public service. Not only does the Foundation provide support for graduate study but it also provides leadership training and Fellowship with Scholars from all across the nation who possess similar passion in making a difference through public service. CAMPUS DEADLINE: 18 December 2014; see <http://externalscholarships.lafayette.edu/scholarships/> for application details.

Harvard University, Kennedy School of Government Merit Fellowships (MPA, MPP, MPA/ID)

<http://www.hks.harvard.edu/degrees/sfs/prospective-students/fellowships-scholarships>

The Kennedy School offers a number of competitive fellowships based on merit. The school offers masters degrees in Public Administration Program (MPA), Public Policy Program (MPP), and MPA/ID (International Development).

Applicants complete an application and an essay of not more than 250 words. Fourteen different fellowships are targeted for students who are interested in a variety of public service fields: business, law, medicine, journalism, women's leadership, United Nations, and public international agencies. There are also a number of restricted scholarships for both US residents and international students.

Horizons Scholarship <http://wid.ndia.org/horizon/>

The sponsor provides support to encourage women to pursue careers related to the national security interests of the United States and to provide development opportunities to women already working in national security fields. The scholarship program is intended to provide financial assistance to further educational objectives of women either employed or planning careers in defense or national security areas.

The Foundation focuses on the following preferred fields of study for awarding scholarships: security studies, military history, government relations, engineering, computer science, physics, mathematics, business (as it relates to national security or defense), law (as it relates to national security or defense), international relations, political science, economics. Others will be considered if the applicant can successfully demonstrate relevance to a career in the areas of national security or defense.

Humanity in Action Fellowships <http://humanityinaction.org/programs>.

The objective is to promote a dialogue about understanding and responding to the challenges that democratic countries face as they become more diverse societies. HIA programs explore past and present examples of resistance to intolerance, with a goal of encouraging future leaders to be engaged citizens and responsible decision makers. Fellows are assigned to programs in Amsterdam, Berlin, Copenhagen, Paris or Warsaw. Fellowships take place in June.

DEADLINE: January 8, 2015

Herbert Scoville Jr. Peace Fellowship <http://www.scoville.org/>

The Herbert Scoville Jr. Peace Fellowship is a competitive national fellowship program that provides college graduates with the opportunity to gain a Washington perspective on key issues of peace and security over a 6-9 month period. The Fellows serve as full-time junior staff members at the participating organization of their choice. Up to 8 Scoville Fellowships are awarded annually. Fellows receive active mentoring and networking from distinguished Board of Directors and former Fellows in addition to their stipend and benefits.

IFESH <http://www.ifesh.org/what-we-do/international-educators-for-africa-program/international-fellows-program/>

The International Fellows Program (IFP) is a nine-month internship for talented recent college graduates and graduate students to provide on-the-job development experience in Africa. Our Fellows provide technical assistance and training to community-based grassroots projects including education, literacy, health development, HIV/AIDS, English as a Second Language, agricultural development, proposal development, managerial training, feasibility studies and small business development. The program began in 1988 in response to the need for technical support of international development nonprofit organizations. To date, we have placed more than 176 Fellows in 28 countries, primarily in Africa, but also in Asia, South America and Australia.

Insight Collaborative Fellowships for Conflict Management

http://www.insightcollaborative.org/ic_2009/fellowship_apply.php

One-year Insight Fellowships are awarded to exceptional individuals to: study and promote conflict management theory & skills central to Insight's philosophy and services; make humanitarian contributions locally and internationally; and engage in self-development. The Fellowship includes a $20,000 expense allowance to support multiple placements totaling one year, typically in 3-4 month blocks.

DEADLINE: January 15, 2015

Institute for Women's Policy Research (IWPR) Internships <http://www.iwpr.org/about/internships>

The Institute for Women's Policy Research (IWPR), located in Washington, D.C., conducts rigorous research and disseminates its findings to address the needs of women, promote public dialogue, and strengthen families, communities and societies.

IWPR is committed to assisting the professional development of students and graduates interested in economic justice for women. IWPR's internship program is designed to provide participants with challenging work experiences under the guidance and supervision of staff with extensive knowledge of women's policy issues, social science research, and non-profit management. Fall, Spring, and Summer Internships are available. For 2014 Fall Internships, applications are accepted on a rolling basis until August 25, 2014. For 2015 Spring Internships, applications are accepted on a rolling basis until December 15, 2014. For 2015 Summer Internships, see website.

New York City Urban Fellows Program http://www.nyc.gov/html/dcas/html/work/program_info.shtml

The Urban Fellows Program is a prestigious nine-month program which introduces college graduates to local government and public service. The Program curriculum includes a full-time employment opportunity with the City government and weekly seminar series exploring the process of the local government. These seminars are often led by commissioners, elected officials, and people at all levels of the government. Fellows will work in the most challenging of areas, including but not limited to, budget process, agency operations, low income housing, affordable health care, education and economic development. A $30,000 stipend for nine months and health insurance is awarded.

Pamela Harriman Foreign Service Fellowships <http://www.wm.edu/sites/harriman/>

The Pamela Harriman Foreign Service Fellowships are offered annually to three outstanding undergraduates from across the nation, chosen from students serving in a summer professional position with the US Department of State in Washington, DC, and the US Embassies in London and Paris. Students must first apply for a summer internship with the State Department by the November 1 application deadline.

Payne International Development Fellowship Program

<http://www.paynefellows.org/?areaid=2&contentid=941>

The USAID Donald M. Payne International Development Graduate Fellowship Program seeks to attract outstanding young people who are interested in pursuing careers in the Foreign Service of the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID). The Payne Fellowship, which provides up to $90,000 in benefits over two years for graduate school, internships, and professional development activities, provides a unique pathway to the USAID Foreign Service.

DEADLINE: January 20, 2015

PPIA: Public Policy & International Affairs Fellowship <https://www.ppiaprogram.org/ppia/what-we-do/junior-summer-institutes/>

The goal of the PPIA Fellowship Program is to help students achieve a Master's or joint degree, typically in public policy, public administration, international affairs or a related field. The organization does this through the intensive study provided by participation in a Junior Summer Institute (JSI), through partnerships with universities across the country, and through an alumni network that provides opportunities to connect with nearly 4000 individuals who share the same interest in public service.

Each year, PPIA seeks out high-potential undergraduate students from universities across the country to participate in an intensive seven-week Junior Summer Institute (JSI) before their senior year. During their program, fellows are equipped with the knowledge and skills they will need to succeed in graduate school and ultimately, in influential roles serving the public good.

Once a student has successfully completed their JSI, they join an alumni network of nearly 4,000 leaders. In addition to the opportunities that this network provides for mentoring and career development, our alumni network has the opportunity to receive financial support for their graduate school education if they attend one of the programs in our Graduate School Consortium.

PPIA's Graduate School Consortium is comprised of over 30 public policy and international affairs programs from across the country. These institutions share PPIA's commitment to increasing inclusion in public service and are committed to supporting our fellows in their pursuit of a graduate education. Fellows who apply to receive a graduate degree at these schools are able to waive the application fees and, if accepted, are guaranteed a minimum, one-time financial award of $5,000 from the school, although most programs are able to provide financial assistance well above this level.

PPIA Fellows are encouraged to gain work experience before applying to graduate school. Our Graduate School Consortium members guarantee benefits for at least five years after fellows complete their undergraduate degree.

Presidential Management Fellows www.pmf.gov

The Presidential Management Fellows Program has appealed to master's and doctoral-level students who wish to work in the Federal Government. The Program provides an opportunity for Fellows to apply the knowledge they gained while in graduate study towards a career in the Federal service. Fellows participate in domestic and international affairs, technology, science, criminal justice, health, financial management, and other fields in public service. Students who have completed a graduate degree from an accredited college or university are eligible to be nominated by their schools. The Program seeks graduates who have a breadth and quality of achievements, leadership skills, and have demonstrated dedication to pursuing a career in public policies. Those accepted receive Federal benefits.

Princeton in Africa <http://www.princetonin africa.org/about/about-piaf/>

Princeton in Africa matches talented and passionate college graduates with our partners working across Africa for yearlong service projects. Our program is open to graduating seniors and young alumni from any accredited college or university in the U.S. Our Fellows have helped improve education and public health, source fresh water and alternative energy, increase family incomes, and so much more.

Princeton in Asia <http://piaweb.princeton.edu/application-process>

Princeton in Asia (PiA) offers service-oriented fellowships in the fields of education, media/journalism, international development (NGOs) and business, with a majority of fellows working as English teachers at universities and high schools. PiA fellowships are open to graduates or graduating seniors from all accredited colleges and universities.

Princeton in Latin America <http://www.princeton.edu/~pila/>

PiLA offers service experiences in Latin America and the Caribbean to match outstanding recent college graduates who are interested in year-long service fellowship opportunities with partner NGO and multilateral organizations that are engaged in socially responsible development projects throughout the region.

Projects Abroad <http://www.projects-abroad.org>

Projects Abroad is one of the largest volunteer abroad organizations in the world. Founded in 1992, we send 10,000 people abroad each year on a variety of service projects and internships overseas. All participants receive unparalleled in-country support from our full-time, professional staff to ensure that the experience is safe, worthwhile and fun.

Public Allies http://www.publicallies.org/site/c.liKUL3PNLvF/b.2775807/k.C8B5/About_Us.htm

An AmeriCorps program that places allies in community development NGOs serving for four days a week for 10 months at local nonprofits, where they create, improve and expand services that address issues including youth development, education, public health, economic development, and the environment. Once a week, allies participate in a rigorous leadership development program in which local community leaders and expert practitioners lead workshops.

Rangel Graduate Fellowship Program <http://rangelprogram.org>

The Rangel Graduate Fellowship is a program that aims to attract and prepare outstanding young people for careers in the Foreign Service in which they can help formulate, represent and implement U.S. foreign policy. Each year, the Rangel Program selects 20 outstanding Rangel Fellows in a highly competitive nationwide process and helps support them through two years of graduate study, internships and professional development activities, and entry into the Foreign Service. This program encourages the application of members of minority groups historically underrepresented in the Foreign Service and those with financial need. Fellows who successfully complete the program and Foreign Service entry requirements will receive appointments as Foreign Service Officers, one of the most exciting and rewarding careers available.

DEADLINE: January 14, 2015

Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Center for Human Rights Internships <http://rfkcenter.org/advocacy-internships-2?lang=en>

The Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Center for Human Rights (CHR) implements the vision of RFK by promoting the full spectrum of human rights both in the United States and throughout the world. The Center develops and carries out projects which enhance and complement the work of the Robert F. Kennedy Human Rights Award laureates and that promote social change.

Interns will be asked to perform a variety of tasks in order to help with the Advocacy Team, such as: researching and draft memoranda on the human rights situation in countries of interest to the Center and on thematic issues (for example, the human right to health, the right to development, etc.); preparing documents for submission to government or U.N. officials; attending and reporting on briefings, Congressional hearings, symposia and other meetings; monitoring sources of information on countries and issues of concern to the Center; and collecting, organizing and analyzing relevant information.

Applicants must have completed at least one year of undergraduate school and have a demonstrated interest in human rights.

Ability in one of the following languages is helpful, but not required: Arabic, Bahasa Indonesian, French, Haitian Creole, or Spanish. Internships are unpaid.

Roosevelt Institute, Roosevelt Summer Academy <http://www.rooseveltcampusnetwork.org/get-active/opportunities>

The Roosevelt Campus Network offers various internships for college students. Visit the website for more information.

Rotary Peace Fellowships <https://www.rotary.org/myrotary/en/get-involved/exchange-ideas/peace-fellowships>

Each year, Rotary selects individuals from around the world to receive fully funded master's degree fellowships at premier universities in fields related to peace and conflict resolution and prevention. Locations include Japan, UK, Australia, Sweden and the U.S. These fellowships cover tuition and fees, room and board, round-trip transportation, and all internship/field study expenses. The deadline to submit completed applications to Rotary International is July 1, 2015 for academic study beginning in 2016.

Samaritan Inns <http://www.samaritaninns.org/>

This program offers a year-long innkeeper fellowship at a homeless shelter/halfway house in Washington D.C. Interns take classes at the Servant Leadership School, participate in monthly community-building activities and group reflection, and have opportunities to connect with individuals and organizations working to address the complex problems of poverty. Inn Keepers also learn about addictive behaviors, explore their faith, and personalize their understanding of poverty and oppression.

Think Impact <http://thinkimpact.org/>

Think Impact is an international non-profit organization based in Washington, D.C. that catalyzes social businesses in Kenya and South Africa. Founded in 2003, Think Impact has grown to become a leading player in the social enterprise sector. We provide young social entrepreneurs the most effective vehicle to build high-impact social businesses that empower community members in rural Africa.

Thomas R. Pickering <http://woodrow.org/fellowships>

Graduate Foreign Affairs Fellowship

Are you a graduate student interested in pursuing a Foreign Service career with the U.S. Department of States? If so, then the Pickering Graduate Foreign Affairs Fellowship may be for you. The Fellowship seeks outstanding students who reflect the diversity and excellence of our nation. The program arms it fellows with the necessary skills to successfully represent America's interests abroad. Applicants must be a citizen of the United States, have a 3.2 or higher, and be seeking admission to a graduate program for the following academic year. Fellows are expected to enroll in a two-year full-time master's degree program (such as public policy, international affairs, public administration, foreign languages, sociology, economics, etc) in the United States. Each successful candidate is required to serve as a Foreign Service Officer for a minimum of three years.

DEADLINE: January 16, 2015

Undergraduate Foreign Affairs Fellowship

Are you an ambitious, driven, and enthusiastic undergraduate student? Have you ever considered a career as a Foreign Service Officer? Would you like to represent the United States and its interests in world affairs? Do you love to travel, learn new languages, cultures, meet new people, and work amongst the most high-level professionals from around the world? If so, then the Picking Fellowship is looking for you. Students from all ethnic, racial and social backgrounds, with an unusual level of commitment, uncommon motivation, and the ability to endure any and all directives with invariable dedication to U.S. interests are desired. Applicants must be a U.S. citizen, a college sophomore, and have a 3.2 GPA or higher at the time of application. Each successful candidate is required to serve as a Foreign Service Officer for a minimum of four and a half years.

DEADLINE: January 16, 2015

US Agency for International Development (USAID) <http://www.usaid.gov/who-we-are> & <http://www.usaid.gov/work-usaid/careers/student-internships>

USAID deals with humanitarian aid to foreign countries and aims to promote economic prosperity, protect human rights, improve global health and support education around the globe. They deal with long-term problems such as climate change and food security, as well as short-term crises such as natural disasters and political conflict. USAID offers both paid and unpaid student internships, mostly based in their DC offices. Interns usually engage in research, program writing, drafting documents, attending program discussions, and communicating with field missions, stake holders & general public abroad. Must have a 3.0+ GPA. Internships are available in different areas including the Arica Bureau, Office of the Senior LGBT Coordinator, Center for Faith-based and Community Initiatives, Bureau for Legislative & Public Affairs, Office of the General Counsel and Office of Transition Initiatives.

US Department of Commerce's International Trade Administration, US Commercial Services Volunteer Internships <http://trade.gov/cs/> & <http://trade.gov/cs/employment.asp>

The US Commercial Service promotes trade on a national and international level by helping US companies to start exporting or increase sales in global markets. CS boasts 128 commercial offices that are located in US embassies and consulates in over 75 countries. The agency offers various student volunteer internships at US field offices, the DC headquarters and at international field offices. It is a 10-week full-time opportunity available to full- and part-time students.

US Department of State Internships <http://www.state.gov/r/pa/ei/rls/dos/1718.htm> & <https://www.usajobs.gov/>

The Dept. of State is responsible for the workings of over 265 embassies, consulates and diplomatic missions worldwide. Employees consist of Foreign Service Officers, Foreign Service Specialists & Civil Service professionals who work in a Geographic Bureau, a Functional Bureau, or for the under-secretary. Most internship program opportunities are offered at the bureau level, either stateside or abroad. Internships are 8-10 weeks, full-time. Available to juniors, seniors & graduate students with a 2.5+ GPA.

US Department of State Virtual Student Foreign Service <http://www.state.gov/vsfs/> & www.usajobs.gov/

The Dept. of State offers an internship for the duration of the school year. Each intern is paired with a US embassy and works with them to develop public relations through social media, conduct research, write articles, and analyze virtual content on topics such as the environment, global health, and international trade. Applications available in early July.

Volunteers for Peace <http://www.vfp.org/default.aspx?>

VFP provides opportunities for volunteers to develop leadership skills and global connections. We advocate for civic engagement and encourage volunteers to apply their new skills as citizen diplomats, community activists and global leaders.

White House Fellows <http://www.whitehouse.gov/fellows/>

The White House Fellows program is a prestigious program for leadership and public service. White House Fellows typically spend a year working as full-time, paid special assistants to senior White House Staff, the Vice President, Cabinet Secretaries and other top-ranking government officials. Fellows also participate in an education program consisting of roundtable discussions with renowned leaders from the private and public sectors, and trips to study U.S. policy in action both domestically and internationally. Deadline: January 15, 2015

White House Internship Program www.whitehouse.gov/about/internships

President Obama believes in the capacity of young people to move America forward. He is committed to providing young leaders from across the nation an opportunity to develop their leadership skills and fostering a continued commitment to public service through the White House Internship Program. This hands-on program is designed to mentor and cultivate today's young leaders, strengthen their understanding of the Executive Office of the President and prepare them for future roles in public service.

William J. Clinton Fellowship in India <http://aif.org/investment-area/leadership/>

William J. Clinton Fellowship for Service in India is a 10-month leadership fellowship that pairs a select number of young professionals with credible NGOs and social enterprises in India in order to accelerate impact and create effective projects that are replicable, scalable, and sustainable. Applicants must be between the ages of 21 and 34 and completed an undergraduate degree. AIF provides a round trip ticket to India, insurance coverage, and a monthly stipend to each Fellow. The deadline to apply is February 1, 2015.

William Jefferson Clinton International Scholarship Program at American University-Dubai

http://www.aud.edu/external_relations/en/menu/1581/clinton-scholarship-program-

http://www.aud.edu/admissions/scholars_clinton.asp

Deadline: October 15, 2014 for 2015 Spring Semester

Deadline: February 15, 2015 for 2015 Summer Session

Deadline: April 15, 2015 for 2015 Fall Semester

The William Jefferson Clinton Scholars at the American University in Dubai seeks to further the goals of the Clinton Presidential Foundation to strengthen the capacity of people in the United States and throughout the world to meet the challenges of global interdependence. The program will provide American students based in the US the opportunity to expand their educational and cultural horizons by studying in the Arab world.